

Property Condition & Letting Standards

This document has been produced to:

- a) outline the expected condition that properties are maintained to:
- b) Inform a tenant ending their tenancy of the standard required upon leaving;
and
- c) Detail the standard required for a property at the start of a tenancy.

Property Condition

The condition of properties will be monitored on a regular basis to ensure properties are being maintained in accordance with the Tenancy Agreement and to the required condition. The strategy will be to proactively manage standards prior to tenancies being ended.

Assessment of the properties is carried out during routine and responsive maintenance, stock condition inspections and other necessary visits to provide a 'traffic light rating'. This will monitor and alert where action is necessary to ensure that no property deteriorates to a non-decent standard in the future.

Where a tenant is allowing a property to be kept in a poor, untidy condition with damage evident then action will be taken to manage the tenancy in line with the Tenancy Agreement, which could result in repossession or legal proceedings being taken.

In all instances properties will be maintained to a good standard for the health and safety of tenants. In particular gas servicing and repairs will be completed in full compliance of legal regulations.

Letting Standards

When a notice to end a tenancy is received, a property inspection is undertaken within 24 hours to ensure the property achieves an acceptable letting standard. The property must be safe, clean and in a reasonable state of repair for letting at the end of the notice period.

Repairs and improvements will be carried out with the cooperation and agreement of the outgoing tenants during the notice period. Where actions have been agreed with the outgoing tenants and they are not completed then a recharge for the repairs will be made.

The Association's representative who complete the property inspection will have discretion to agree the actions necessary for the property to meet the minimum standards. Any non-emergency repairs could be undertaken with the new tenants in occupation where their health and safety is not compromised.
